There is No Such Thing as the Enchilada Hut written by:

Connor Wray

cwray721@gmail.com
(513) 680-9070
677 Hiddenpoint Drive
Cincinnati, OH.

INT. OFFICE

MARK is sitting at the end of a table wearing a plain white button up and black tie.

He is staring at MARC - who is sitting across from him writing on a notepad for an uncomfortably long time.

Marc is wearing a suit and glasses that look like they might be from the 70s.

MARC
Alright! Mark...

MARK
Yes?

MARC
Tell me about your day.

MARK
My day?

MARC
Yeah. What you did this morning, did you go to work? What did you do there? What did you do after? Everything from the moment you woke up to when you walked into this room.

MARK
How detailed do you want me to be? Should I say I brushed my teeth, or should I say I brushed my teeth with a blue brush and crest paste before I showered?

MARC
Just a general summary is all we need. If you think of any notable details, please let me know.

MARK
Ok.

MARC
Whenever you're ready.

MARK
Well, I woke up I think around 6:30? Stayed in bed until 7. Brushed my teeth, showered, put this on. I didn't have much time for food so I just grabbed a couple pop-tarts on the way out to work.

MARC
Pop-Tarts?

MARK
Yeah.

MARC
What kind?

MARK
Regular? Strawberry?

Marc writes that down.

MARK
Is that important? Is that bad?

MARC
No, no, I'm just writing down details. Please, keep going.

MARK
Ok, I drove to work. Made some calls. It was kind of a boring day, to be honest. But after that I left and realized I had a bit of time before this meeting, so I stopped in and grabbed myself something at the Enchilada Hut.

MARC
At the where?

MARK
The Enchilada Hut. And after that I came here.

MARC
Tell me about that.

MARK
What?

MARC
The Enchilada Hut.

WRITTEN WORK OF GWYNOR WRAY

MARK
It's...a Mexican food place, it's on Drury Lane like 10 minutes from my office.

MARC
What's the address?

MARK
Of the Enchilada Hut?

MARC
If you know it.

MARK
321 Drury Lane, I think?

MARC
Tell me more about it.

MARK
What do you want me to say?

MARC
What's the atmosphere? What do you like about it? What's your favorite meal there?

MARK
It's a casual fast-food place. Sit in and drive through. The workers wear black collared shirts and hats. They have the florescent lights and a stand you can refill your drinks for free at. There's some fun art on the walls of different cartoon food people. They play good music and the people are always nice, it's never super busy. And, uh...I like to order the Luchador. It's beef with some spicy sauce. It's been my reliable go-to every time I eat there since I was like 13.

Marc is writing it all down.

MARC
Well, that's no good.

MARK
What is?

WRITTEN WORK OF GW SCREENWRITING

MARC
Well, the Enchilada Hut isn't real.

MARK
What do you mean?

MARC
I mean it's not real, you couldn't have eaten there. It doesn't exist.

MARK
But I did. I got the Luchador, it's fucking up my innards right now.

MARC
Yeah, you technically got the "Luchador", that's the name is has in your head but it's just a beef quesadilla from Chipotle.

MARK
What? No.

MARC
Yeah, that's what it is.

MARK
It's an entirely different restaurant.

MARC
Because the one you're talking about doesn't exist. Look, the address you told me? No Enchilada Hut there.

Marc shows Mark his phone.

MARK
Maybe I just...remembered it wrong.

MARC
It sounds to me like your subconscious kind of jammed together a bunch of Mexican fast food places and came up with: Enchilada Hut. It's normal.

MARK
What do you mean "it's normal"? What do you mean "my subconscious"?

WRITTEN WORK OF CONNOR WRAY

MARC
(oblivious)
So that was everything leading up to now?

MARK
Yes. What do you mean "my subconscious"?

MARC
I mean your unconscious mind. Your mind that is...sub.

MARK
But I'm here, conscious, awake, now.

MARC
No, yeah, me too. I go for chicken though, not Mexican. I usually get the bone-in wings.

MARK
I don't see how that's - bone in?

MARC
Yeah. Suck the meat right off and then eat the bone.

MARK
EAT THE BONE?

MARC
We all eat the bone!

MARK
Who is we?! You're trying to gaslight me into thinking my eating habits are wrong when you're eating bones?

MARC
Read my bone-crunching lips - there is no such thing as the Enchilada Hut.

Beat.

Mark processes what Marc has told him and starts realizing there are gaps in his memory.

MARK
How did I get here?

WRITTEN WORK OF CONNOR WRAY

No response. Marc writes that down.

MARK
(cont'd)
How did I get here? If I woke up at my house and went to work and then...didn't go to Enchilada Hut, since apparently it doesn't exist, then how did I get here? What did I eat? Where did I go from work? Did I go to work? Did I wake up at home? What else isn't real?

MARC
Why don't you tell me?

MARK
...I don't know. I really don't know. Holy shit.

MARC
Do you want to try again? Tell me about your day up to this point?

MARK
What did I eat?

MARC
Hello? Are we losing you?

MARK
Who the hell is we?!

MARC
Are you getting this?

JERRY's disembodied voice fills the room.

JERRY
Yeah, I got it all.

MARK WHO IS THAT?!

MARC
What are we thinking?

JERRY
It's going to be hard to salvage but it's your call.

WRITTEN WORK OF CONNOR WRAY

MARK WHO IS TALKING?!

MARC
Call it.

Marc blinks out of the room like he was never there.

Mark looks around the empty silent room for anyone else.

MARK
Hello...? HELLO?! What the f-

INT. REAL OFFICE

Marc pulls a headset off, he is sitting in a room identical to the one he was in with a few minor differences:

The white board has a bunch of writing on it, most prominently a scoreboard of "Success" and "Fail" with the "Success" tallies winning.

A man identical to Mark sitting by Marc with an earpiece in and a computer open - Jerry.

And Mark sitting slumped over across the room wearing another headset - seemingly unconscious.

MARC Fuck.

JERRY
What was it this time?

MARC
It's the Enchilada Hut again, I don't know what it is in the system that keeps that bug alive but it's getting annoying.

Marc gets up and walks over to Mark - as he walks by the white board, he adds another tally to the "Failure".

JERRY
That's so weird. Is everything else working?

MARC
Yeah! The memory wipe is fine, the graphics are amazing. It's just this Enchilada Hut - It's like a thread on a sweater - one he pulls it everything unravels. We can't have that.

Marc unplugs Mark's headset and stands waiting by his chair.

JERRY
What are you doing?

MARC
Waiting. It needs a minute to reset before turning it back on.

JERRY
Do you want me to just try buffing out that issue before you jump back in? I could even try to make up an "Enchilada Hut" for the program.

MARC
How long would that take?

JERRY
A week maybe?

MARC
Let's see if we can just let it work itself out.

JERRY
Ok.

Marc plugs the headset back in.

MARC
Is it wrong that we're doing all this on your brother?

JERRY
No, I was always the better twin anyway. He's got good genes, the system shouldn't harm his brain, he'll be fine.

Marc sits back in his chair.

MARC Ready.

JERRY.
Ready.

WRITTEN WORK OF CONNOR WRAY

Marc puts the headset back on.

INT. OFFICE

We're back to scene 1.

MARC
Alright! Mark...tell me about your day.

THE END.

